DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 3 and 5 are objected to because of the following informalities: Should line 2 in each claim read -100 microns--? Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 3 recites the limitation 'claim 2' in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 4, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hahn (US 3,605,123). Please refer to the previous office action for the text of the rejection.

Art Unit: 1775

Claims 1, 4, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lester et al (US 6,203,771). Lester teaches a catalytic converter with a metal monolith. The metal monolith is made of aluminum or aluminum alloy and has an anodized surface layer.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hahn (US 3,605,123). Please refer to the previous office action for the text of the rejection.

Claims 3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lester et al (US 6,203,771). Lester teaches a metal monolith as discussed above, but does not specify the density of the anodized surface. The limitation of "less than 5% porosity 100 microns or more from the surface" is considered met by the area below the anodized surface of the monolith. Lester teaches that the anodized surface is highly porous, and it is considered to have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide a porous surface sufficient to provide a higher surface area for deposition of the catalytic metals (col. 8, lines 18-24).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed March 11, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Hahn does not teach a monolithic structure. In addition to the metal base with a porous coating, Hahn also teaches an embodiment where a porous surface region is provided without the use of a coating process (col. 4, lines 38-46). Hahn teaches that by a method such as chemical milling, a thin porous region can be provided without an actual application of a coating. This is considered to keep the core and porous surface region monolithic.

The rejection over Lester is newly cited.

Applicants arguments and amendments have overcome the rejections of Pilliar and Troczynski.
